

Application software Engineer, China

General Description:

The Application software engineer has a good experience in embedded application development.

Responsibilities:

Technical Expertise

The Engineer will develop embedded application for multimedia mobile phone such as Camera application, video recorder, mp3 player, telephony, email, browser,...

This includes the development of the interface layers with middleware and also the user interface (GTK or QT type), using the customization tools.

You will be responsible of specifications, development, test, debug and maintenance of user interfaces and application services

The development will be based on Object oriented architecture.

Skills

- Engineering degree or equivalent
- C Language programming
- Object oriented programming
- Experience with embedded Linux software development
- Gnu tools experience: GCC, GDB, Valgrind, SVN, ...
- Good level of English
- Autonomous, dynamic, organized, aware of consumer product ergonomic